

1155 Canyon
Boulder, Colorado

Jeff Mullikin helped to found AEDG, Inc. in 2004 and has been an integral part of the design team.

Jeff has an understanding of the coordination required to provide an effective electrical and lighting system design that intertwines with all of the complex systems that exist within a building.

Jeff continues to grow in his experience base and brings a vast knowledge of lighting design and power distribution design on a large variety of projects. Jeff possesses the ability to design systems that are artistic in appearance yet provide the functionality required for each individual use.
